PARTIAL PARALYSIS

MAY BE ENTIRELY OF A FUNCTIONAL CHARACTER.

It is Not Necessary to Accept it as Hopeless, Since There Are Many Well Authenticated Cures.

There is absolutely no way of reaching the nerves with medicine except through the blood. The nerves receive all of their nourishment and support from the blood, which, under healthy conditions, carries the elements needed to rebuild wasted nerve tissue.

Let the blood become deranged and deficient in these elements, and the nerves will be badly nourished, and headaches, neuralgia, sciatica, functional paralysis and a host of other nervous troubles may result.

In severe nervous disorders Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have accomplished many seemingly impossible cures. Such an instance was the cure of Mrs. Elizabeth Stratton, of No. 1126 Dewey Avenue, Beloit, Wis. Mrs. Stratton has lived at her present address for the past six years, and there is no room for doubt regarding her statement. She says:

"I had been ailing for some time through overwork and worry, when my right side suddenly became partially paralyzed. I could not move my right leg without king hold of a chair. My right leg and arm were affected so that I could not use them. My nerves were in a terrible state. I shook all over, and was excited by the least little thing. For weeks I was in a nervous wreck. My appetite was poor, and I was a nervous wreck."

"I doctored with local physicians at Quincy, Ill., who said I had partial paralysis caused by a nervous shock. I did get a little relief from them, but it was only temporary. Through a friend I was induced to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. This was after I had been sick for over a year. I was thin and around, but could not walk. The pills soon helped me, and finally entirely cured me. My daughter also used the pills for a run-down condition of the blood, and they helped her at once."

While so promptly effective, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain no harmful stimulants or opiates. They are perfectly safe and create no drug habit. Our booklet, "Nervous Disorders," will be mailed free on request to any address. Send for a copy to-day.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

MAY CREATE NEW CITY POSITION

Ordinance Providing for Analytical Chemist Goes to Subcommittee.

MORE MONEY FOR FIREMEN

Chairman Taylor Says Change in System Would Reduce Insurance Rates.

At a meeting of the Finance Committee last night the ordinance offered by Alderman Elliot for the creation of the office of City Analytical Chemist, at a salary of $2,000 per annum, was referred to a subcommittee for recommendation at a later meeting. The creation of this new position was opposed by the members of the committee of Froehling & Robertson, who said his house would undertake to do the chemical work now done for the city, outside the Health and Water Departments, for the sum of $1,000 per annum.

Dr. J. M. Whitfield, the chemist of the Health Department, appeared in advocacy of the ordinance, he having admitted that he would be a candidate for the position should it be created.

The committee recommended the transfer of money from one account to another in the Gas Department at the request of the Committee on Light, the money being needed to pay for the work of rehabilitating the Gas Works. A recommendation was sent to the Council providing for the creation of the office of master mechanic for the Fire Department.

W. C. Pulliam, of Manchester, appeared as counsel for John B. Baugh, with the request that the latter be given a duplicate certificate instead of a State bond, which he has lost. The request was granted by the City Attorney, with power to act.

World Lower Rates.
Chairman Charles F. Taylor, of the Board of Public Utilities, argued in favor of an additional appropriation, so as to be able to make the department a standard one, which is understood to mean the abolition of all call station positions, making all the captains housemen, to be paid salaries sufficient to warrant them in giving their entire time to the work of the department. Captain Taylor said this would greatly reduce fire rates in the city. He was asked to confer with fire underwriters as to the estimated saving to the people annually, these figures to be reported to the committee at some future meeting.

PRACTICE MARCHES FOR MILITIAMEN

Each Command May Have Week's Outing, but No Encampments.

FUNDS ARE NOT SUFFICIENT

Governor Issues Order Through Adjutant-General Giving Directions as to Marches.

According to predictions heretofore, provision has been made for practice marches by such Virginia troops as may desire to take short trips this year, though it is found that the funds at the disposal of the Military Board are not sufficient to allow also summer encampments, which were so much desired by some of the companies. Governor Swanson and General Anderson both expressed the view months ago that there would be no encampments this year on account of the lack of funds. Each stated at the time, however, that the board would later make arrangements for marches in keeping with the funds which are available.

By order of the Governor, the Adjutant-General has sent a letter to all the commands of the State calling attention to the fact that application for the privilege of taking these marches may now be made, and giving the conditions upon which money for this purpose may be secured. The marches will probably not last more than a week, in any case. Under the order of the Governor, each infantry company will be allotted $150, while the artillery batteries will be given $250 each.

The Letter in Full.
The letter, sent by General Anderson, which thoroughly outlines the conditions under which the various commands may secure the money, is as follows:

"Recent requirements of the War Department that the uniformed militia of the several States be placed on certain basis respecting armament and equipment will leave no fund available for encampments during the summer of 1909, under the provisions of Section 1661, Revised Statutes, U. S. The Governor, as Commander-in-Chief, with the assent of the board, desires, however, to promote, as much as possible, military manoeuvres and exercises, such as practice marches, under service conditions, by such detachments of the Virginia Volunteers who may wish to take up such exercises, strictly military in their character."

"I. In order to promote these exercises, where desired, it is ordered that, under the direction of the regimental and separate battalions, the companies be immediately forwarded to this office designating, for the information of the Governor, what companies of their command will take part, their probable strength, proposed march or manoeuvre, length, time, probable cost, and any other details that may be practicable."

"It is advisable that all such exercises be conducted under the immediate direction of regimental and separate battalion commanders, but said commanders may devolve such duties on officers of their own rank, who will report to this office only through regular channels."

"3. For the purpose of assisting the said military exercises, the sum of $150 to each infantry company and $250 to each battery, and no more, will be allowed to companies and batteries actually taking part in the movements. These sums may be drawn by regimental or separate battalion commanders by direct requisition on the Adjutant-General's office, when the items of paragraphs 1 and 2 of this circular letter have been complied with."

"4. The time limit for these exercises will not extend beyond October 1, and the arrangements as directed, must reach the Adjutant-General's office prior to August 1. In order that they may receive the Governor's permission in accordance with the provisions of paragraph 1, as contemplated within, are concluded, full and complete detailed reports of the same must be made to the Adjutant-General within fifteen days, by the officers addressed."

"It is enjoined by the Governor upon the brigade commander, colonels of the First, Second and Fourth Regiments, and the major commanding the Richmond Light Infantry Blues' Battalion and First Battery, Artillery, to entrust this important matter, that the utmost care be taken to eliminate all ideas of holiday trips or excursions; to carry out, always, the idea of military instruction, and, by every means in their power, seek to make their commands more efficient by reason of such exercises as carried out."

AMBULANCE BIDS NOT ACTED UPON

Committee Hears Representatives of Competing Dealers and Will Make Tests.

After hearing representatives of nearly all the companies bidding on the automobile ambulance for the City Home, the Committee on Relief of the Poor last night adjourned without taking action, the chairman being requested to arrange for demonstrations of the competing machines prior to the next meeting.

There was no debate over any proposition concerning the ambulance, but the contract, though the meeting lasted until long after 11 o'clock, Representatives of the various companies were called before the committee, each being asked many questions as to the merits of the proposed machines.

Mr. Read was requested to call the committee within the next two weeks, provided the proposed demonstrations can be arranged in the meantime. The members desire to test all the machines on steep hills, with a view of determining from a standpoint of capacity and price which is best suited. The Council has appropriated an amount not exceeding $4,000 for the purchase of the ambulance. In this amount will be included the proceeds of the sale of the lot of the old colored almshouse, which will be advertised at once to be sold at auction.

FISHERMAN WAS ATTACKED ON DOCK

Police Find Wounded Negro, but Are Unable to Locate Assailant.

Minor accidents of various kinds have been the city ambulance, under the charge of Dr. H. L. Collier, on the jump all day yesterday and last night, the long run from far out on North Second Street adding to the difficulty of giving prompt aid to the injured.

Robert Jackson, a colored man living at 14 West Cary Street, went fishing yesterday. His account of his adventures was weird, and his appearance on his return more so, as he was picked up by the police at the Fulton dock with a severely cut lip, a bleeding head and an ear partly cut off. He was hurried to the First Police Station in the auto patrol, and the ambulance called. While Dr. Collier was making various stitches Jackson said he had been attacked on the dock by an unknown man, who had beat him over the head and robbed him of $10. The police are looking for his assailant, but have only a vague description.

Leo Jacobs, a small white boy, of 1516 East Main Street, cut his thumb badly yesterday morning while playing with some machinery. It required prompt work to save the thumb.

Randolph Fossell, white, of 109 North Nineteenth Street, yesterday morning was cleaning or playing with an old-fashioned double-barreled pistol, one of the "didn't know it was loaded" kind. As sometimes happens, it went off, the bullet passing through the palm of his hand, though no bones were broken. He was taken to the City Hospital.

Willie Allen, a seventeen-year-old white boy, of 2314 East Grace Street, had his thumb cut off in machinery at a paper mill on South Thirteenth Street. The wound was dressed, and he was later able to go to his home on a street car.

RAILWAYS MUST HELP WATERWAYS

Without Their Co-operation Traffic on Inland Courses Will Be Ruined.

A DISCOURAGING CONDITION

Commissioner of Corporations Makes Second Part of Report on Transportation.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 19.—Co-operation between railroads and waterways seems absolutely necessary to insure a reasonable and efficient use of the inland watercourses of this country.

This conclusion is reached in the report of Herbert Knox Smith, Commissioner of Corporations, in Part II. of his discussion of the subject of "Transportation by Water," which his bureau has been investigating for many months. The second part of the report was transmitted to President Taft to-day. It deals with traffic by water, and portions of it are particularly suggestive and significant.

It is pointed out by Commissioner Smith that "it is a well known fact that the entire transportation system of the United States should be, as now, at odds with itself through destructive competition, while the transportation needs of the public suffer." "Traffic in itself," the report continues, "is a necessity for the proper development of a waterway. State and Federal work must be supplemented by private initiative, especially in terminals and equipment, and private initiative will come in only when there is reasonable chance of enough traffic to make it profitable. One of the great questions, therefore, is the question of how to secure for the inland rivers and canals a reasonable share of the country's traffic."

In the body of the report, Commissioner Smith points out the predominance of bulk traffic by water and the reasons therefor. Then he outlines the practical results to be obtained from a thorough system of waterways. The entire transportation system of the country is divided into three great classes:

(1) Rail.
(2) Deep water, that is, coastwise and Great Lakes.
(3) Rivers and canals.

Traffic Is Decreasing.
An enormous increase has been shown in the rail traffic. There also has been an increase in the coastwise traffic. On the other hand, the inland canal traffic shows a marked decrease. Discussing this situation, Commissioner Smith, in his report, says:

"The great mass of the coast and Great Lakes traffic is bulk. The enormous development of the Great Lakes business is largely due to the vast ore and grain trade moving eastward and the coal trade moving westward. About 45,000,000 tons of ore were transported in 1907 eastward, and about 17,000,000 tons of coal were moved westward in 1908. These great freights, being all bulk and of uniform character, received and delivered at a few central ports, have produced there a very highly organized system of transportation and terminals, and consequent low transportation cost."

"The river and canal system, on the other hand, has been losing steadily. The New York canals and the Mississippi River system illustrate this. Up to 1855 the traffic on the New York canals was more than twice that of the railroads crossing New York State. It is now less than 3 per cent. of that total. The situation on the Mississippi is illustrated in the traffic history of St. Louis. River shipments there in 1890 were over 600,000 tons; in 1906, 89,000. Rail shipments, on the other hand, increased from 5,000,000 tons in 1890 to 17,000,000 tons in 1906.

One Striking Exception.
The coal traffic down stream from the vicinity of Pittsburgh, over 56 per cent. of the entire vessel traffic on the Mississippi system, is the one striking exception to the general decline on that system. Its success is due to the great deposits of coal practically on the banks, and a corresponding demand for it along the river. But even this traffic is practically confined to the banks of the rivers, and goes neither inland nor along the Gulf coast for any considerable distance.

"The situation of water transportation in the Mississippi Valley is significant and serious. It shows best both the limitations and the possibilities involved in the present waterway problem. There is no lack of freight in that valley, and there has been at times extreme traffic congestion there, and yet the river is getting only an insignificant and decreasing share of the traffic. It is true that physical conditions, such as extreme changes in water level and enormous deposits of sediment, affect transportation seriously. But probably more serious is the competition of the parallel railroads. The situation there justifies the general conclusion of the report that rail competition is one of the most important factors in water traffic."

Cross-Country Flight.
ARRAS, FRANCE, July 19.—M. Paulham, the aeronaut, to-day made a cross-country flight with a Wright aeroplane from this town to Douai. He covered the twenty kilometres in twenty-two minutes. After covering three kilometres on the return trip the rising wind forced M. Paulham to descend and on alighting the rudder was broken.
